THE CAUCASIAN.

Pure Democracy and White Supremacy.

VOL. X.

CLINTON, N. C., THURSDAY, JUNE 16, 1892.

No. 36.

EDITOR'S CHAIR.

HOW THINGS LOOK FROM OUR STAND POINT.

The Opinion of The Editor and the Opinion of Others which we Can Endorse on the Various Topics of the Day.

THEY WILL UNITE.

The Wilmington Messenger says that it may be necessary for the Democrats and Republicans to unite, "to join shields," to prevent the reforms demanded by the people. Now the great rank and file of the plain hard-working people of the Democratic party and many Republicans are demanding these reforms. Then what part of these parties does the Messenger speak for? Largely for the machine element of these parties. Of course, there are many good men who are present opposed to these reforms, that do not belong to the machine, but they are suffering with what all mortals are liable to be afflicted with at times—prejudice. Yes, they are prejudiced against reforms because they have not investigated them, and then, too, they are so patronized and enjoyed by the machine that they do not see the machine. This shows what we have often asserted, that the machine element of parties have no political principles for their guide. They fight for spoils and for selfish ends. Yet there are the "patriots" who will be called upon to "join shields," to fight the great mass of the people. We had expected this, but did not expect to see it announced so soon. In short, Dr. Kingsbury has acted indiscreetly in giving the thing away. The bosses had better muzzle him!

IT IS NOW ONLY A "MERE FISCAL REGULATION."

The Charlotte Chronicle says: "Our contemporary would leave the impression that Democrats have the same right to differ about the government owning the railroads as they have about the tariff. This is an error. The principle is just as different as the constitution and an act of Congress. The one pertains to the fundamental structure of the government, the other to a mere fiscal regulation."

Then this great question, this great issue between the parties, is a "mere fiscal regulation," a simple matter of detail, a mere trifling! O these times, O these editors, how they do change! This is alarming, if the leading issue between the parties is nothing more than a "mere fiscal regulation," then they are getting closer together than we want them. There is danger of things getting mixed. If this is true, is it not high time that the Democratic party was adopting some of the principles of the Alliance that "pertains to the fundamental structure of the government," so that it will not lose its identity and can make a fight on some issue that contains a principle, on something more than a "mere fiscal regulation?" We protest against this. The Chronicle should not refer so lightly to a matter so grave. We trust that the Chronicle is not letting down the fence preparatory to its going over to the Republican party. As the fight on the tariff is now conducted, we admit that it is simply a fight over schedules, a fight over slight changes in "mere fiscal regulations." But we protest against this sham battle, we want to see a REAL battle—a battle on principle—for there is a great principle involved in this tariff question. The Alliance is opposed to the tariff in toto, it is opposed to the tariff because it is wrong in principle. A "tariff for revenue only" is just as wrong in principle as a tariff for protection. The tariff is wrong because it taxes what we consume instead of what we possess. It does not tax the rich man in proportion to his ability and duty to pay—it does tax the poor man beyond his ability and duty to pay. It is discrimination, it is class legislation, it is a piece of abominable injustice. The only excuse for a tariff for revenue only, is that it is necessary to raise enough money by some means to run the government. Is there a man in America who is in favor of raising enough revenue to support the government by a system of taxation that is unjust, discriminating and oppressive to the poor and the wealth producers, and at the same time not only releases from just taxation the rich, but in addition gives them a bounty collected from the poor? Can any party afford to go on record in favor of such injustice and robbery? If there is no just method by which taxes can be collected to run the government, then popular government is a failure. If the Democratic party can not devise some such system then it is unworthy and unfit to rule. Yes, let the tariff fight be made on principle. If it is wrong then let us fight it as a wrong. And there will never be, mark it, any material or lasting reform or relief from the tariff till the fight is made on principle. Yes, the fight on the tariff must be made from its ethical side. Then and not till then will we see who are real tariff reformers and who are those engaged in the sham battle. There is no use for speakers to discuss this question longer before the people. The people are for free trade. The so-called leaders need to be educated up to the people. Let the speaker who does not believe this, try to interest his audience by talking about tariff reform and he will have his vanity hurt by finding that he does not elicit much enthusiasm or applause. The people are educated on this question. They want to hear speakers discuss other great economic questions on which they want more light and about which they are also greatly interested. The speakers who are not informed on these questions had better stay at home. It would be better for him and the party, and he certainly cannot do the cause of reform any good. We sympathize in advance with some of the men who will try to speak to audiences this summer and fall. The audiences will know more than the speaker, and the last state of that speaker will be worse than the first.

THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

The platform of the Republican party is clear and exact in only two points. It represents the leading issues—tariff for the South, high taxes for the poor. It speaks forcibly for taxation for the farmers, mechanics and laborers, exemption for the rich. High taxes on the necessities of 80 per cent of the people, low or no taxes on the remainder.

On the financial question—the equal of any of the leading issues—it is either silent or so confused you get no idea of what it wishes to say. Its plank on Silver is a grand farce and a deception. It was written, but for one purpose—to deceive the people. Wall Street dictated the plank. It is simply a stall, but leans rather far towards a gold standard. In fact it is in favor of gold, but wishes to catch the silver vote. The Richmond (Va.) Dispatch says of it, and of what the Democrats will do:

Yes, that silver resolution was introduced to have a double market—one for Wall Street and the other for the people at large. It was not penned for the purpose of expressing the real opinion of the men who made it, or of the party for which it was meant, but to mislead the silverites throughout the Union. We do not know that the Democratic National Convention will improve upon the Republican silver plank, but we think that our candidates and our creed should be consistent the one with the other. If we nominate a silverite let us style him one. If we nominate an anti-silverite let us style him one.

THE REPUBLICAN NOMINEES.

Benjamin Harrison is the nominee of the Republican for President of the United States. We are not surprised. He is in reality, what we call, the logical candidate of the party born in war, fostered on war issues, and to day hopes to gain the election on such issues and high taxation. The nomination of Mr. Harrison distinctly emphasizes the policy of the party—tariff for the South, high taxation for the poor. He is the nominee of the champion of the Force bill. We would have been glad to have seen Mr. Blaine, the "great unwieldy leader of his party," nominated. He is friendly to the South, and would have guarded her rights. But he was opposed to the Force bill and was defeated. Shame it is, that a party, over a quarter of a century after the war is over, should nominate a man for its high office because he hates one section of the country engaged in the war. This is not a campaign of dead issue. The live one are too important.

Mr. Whitelaw Reid, nominee for Vice-President, is too, a typical representative of the wing of the party which nominates him. He will not fail to add lustre to its principles and ingeniously and enthusiastically carry out its teaching.

The character of the men, the platform upon which they stand, and the policy of those who nominated them, is separately, distinctly and jointly against the interest of the people.

COL. L. L. POLK DEAD.

THE PRESIDENT OF THE N. F. A. & I. U. DIED IN WASHINGTON CITY ON LAST SATURDAY AT 11:15.

The End Came Suddenly After a Short Illness.

THE SAD NEWS WILL SEND A SHOCK TO EVERY QUARTER OF THE WHOLE COUNTRY.

The Funeral at Raleigh Last Sunday.

Col. L. L. Polk is dead. This sad announcement will probably carry sorrow to the hearts of more people than would the death of any other American citizen. He was admired by thousands, if not millions of people. Truly "death loves a shining mark," and the strongest know not at what hour the reaper will call.

Less than three weeks ago this writer saw President Polk. He never looked better—he was a fine specimen of strong and vigorous manhood. With his indomitable will and constitution of steel, he seemed to have the promise of still a score of years or more. About a week ago he was taken suddenly ill and confined to his bed. A physician was summoned, who said that he was suffering with a serious affection of the bladder, and that his condition was doubtful. Mrs. Polk and his daughters, Raleigh, and other relatives in North Carolina, were summoned to his bedside in Washington. Last Thursday he was unconscious. Friday he seemed a little better. That night he suffered a relapse. The physicians decided to move him to the Garfield Hospital to perform an operation, but after moving him they decided upon consultation that his case was hopeless. He sunk rapidly till 11:15 A. M. Saturday, when he breathed his last. The physicians say that uremia was the immediate cause of his death.

THE FUNERAL FROM WASHINGTON.

At 11 o'clock on Saturday night a specially provided Pullman sleeper left Washington for Raleigh with the remains of Col. Polk, accompanied by a large funeral party. Senator Peffer, Senator Tracy, Congressman John Davis and wife, John Gattis and wife, W. A. McKeagham, Messrs. Jerry Simpson, William Baker and wife and Messrs. Williams, Branch, Alexander and other North Carolina Congressmen together with Dr. C. W. McNamee, chairman of the Executive Board, J. F. Tillman, secretary of the Executive Board, and J. H. Turner, secretary of the National Farmers' Alliance, W. F. Gwynne, Dr. Walter C. Murphy and Gen'l Stackhouse, member of Congress from South Carolina, were among the distinguished members of the funeral party. The special train reached Raleigh on Sunday at 3:20 P. M.

At 3:30 the funeral party from Washington arrived. They were met at the depot by a procession of over a thousand citizens. The whole procession marched to the first Baptist church. The corpse was placed in front of the altar. Rev. Dr. J. W. Carter read from the 23d Psalm and the 14th chapter of Job. The sermon was a powerful one and moved deeply the whole audience. Dr. Carter was assisted by Drs. Hall and Skinner. After the services the casket was opened and the audience moved around in a circle to look for the last time upon the distinguished dead. The body was taken to Oakwood Cemetery, followed by the vast concourse gathered.

If President Butler, of the State Alliance had been present the body would have been interred with Alliance honors, but it was now five o'clock and he could not possibly reach Raleigh before six o'clock. So the body was interred with the usual church services. It was a great disappointment to many that the funeral was not postponed till Monday. If this had been done a large number from all over the State would have been present.

The Washington party left Sunday on their special car. President Butler, who arrived on the evening train, was their guest as far as Greensboro.

SKETCH OF HIS LIFE.
The following short sketch of his life is sent out by the Associated Press: Washington, D. C., June 11.—Col. L. L. Polk, president of the Farmers' Alliance, died at Garfield hospital at 11:15 o'clock a. m. He was a relative of President Polk. He was a native of North Carolina, where he was born about 55 years ago. His education was received in the common schools. During the war he served for a time in the Confederate army and resigned to go to the Legislature, to which body he had been elected. Later he filled for several years the office of Commissioner of Agriculture for North Carolina, and later still he began the publication of the Progressive Farmer, which he managed for a long time. At the time of his death he was serving his third term as president of the body to which he has given so much of his time and attention.

Col. Polk's home was at Raleigh, N. C. He leaves a wife and three children.

HARRISON NOMINATED.

THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN CONVENTION DOES ITS WORK.

BLAINE DEFEATED.

Whitelaw Reid for Vice-President—The Platform.

The National Republican Convention met at Minneapolis, Minn., last Tuesday, the 7th. It was a long and tiresome meeting. The fight between the Harrison and Blaine men for the nomination prolonged the meeting by several adjournments. Though the convention met Tuesday the balloting began on Friday. The contest from the first has been very sharp and bitter. The Blaine men fought with undaunted courage.

This will be remembered as one of the most exciting contests in the history of the party. Universal interest was manifested, and the demonstration of the friends of both candidates was wild and wonderful. On Friday it was seen that there was little chance for Blaine and an effort was made to carry his strength to McKinley or a compromise candidate, but this plan failed to work and Benjamin Harrison was nominated for the first ballot and Whitelaw Reid, editor of the New York Tribune, was nominated for Vice-President.

The vote stood, Harrison, 534; Blaine, 175; McKinley, 183; Reid, 4; Lincoln; 1. North Carolina voted, Blaine 22, Harrison 17 and McKinley 1.

THE PLATFORM.
The following is an outline of the platform adopted:

PROTECTION.
We affirm the American doctrine of protection. We maintain that the prosperous condition of our country is largely due to the wise revenue legislation of the Republican Congress. We believe that all articles which cannot be produced in the United States, except luxuries, should be admitted free of duty. We denounce the efforts of the Democratic majority of the House of Representatives to destroy our tariff laws as is manifested by their attacks upon wool, lead and lead ores. We point to the success of the Republican policy of reciprocity.

GOLD AND SILVER.
The Republican party demands the use of both gold and silver as standard money, with such restrictions and under such provisions to be determined by the legislation as will secure the maintenance of the parity of the two metals.

PURITY OF THE BALLOT.
We demand that every citizen of the United States shall be allowed to cast one free and unrestricted ballot in the public elections, and that such ballot shall be counted and returned as cast; that such laws shall be enacted and enforced as will secure to every citizen, be he rich or poor, native or foreign born, white or black, this sovereign right guaranteed by the constitution. The party will never relax its efforts to fulfill the integrity of the ballot and purity of elections shall be fully guaranteed and protected in every State.

SOUTHERN OUTRAGES.
We denounce the continued inhuman outrages perpetrated upon the American citizens for political reasons in certain Southern States of the Union.

FOREIGN RELATIONS.
We reaffirm our approval of the Monroe doctrine, and believe in the achievement of manifest destiny of the republic in its broadest sense.

MISCELLANEOUS.
We favor efficient legislation by Congress to protect the life and limbs of employees of transportation companies.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND PRESS.
We declare anew our devotion to liberty of thought and conscience, of speech and press, and approve all agencies and instrumentalities which contribute to the education of the children of the land.

ANTI-TRUST.
We reaffirm our opposition, declared in the Republican platform of 1888, to all combinations of capital organized in trusts or otherwise, to control arbitrarily the condition of trade among our citizens.

FREE DELIVERY.
We approve the policy of extending to towns, villages and rural communities the advantages of the free delivery service now enjoyed by the larger cities of the country, and reaffirm the Republican platform of 1888, pledging the reduction of letter postage to one cent.

TERRITORIES.
We favor the admission of the remaining territories at the earliest practicable date having due regard to the interests of the people of the territories and of the United States.

THE COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION.
The World's Columbian Exposition is a great National undertaking, and Congress should promptly enact such reasonable legislation in aid thereof as will secure a discharge of the expense and obligations incident thereto.

PENSIONS.
Ever indignant of the services and sacrifices of the men who saved the life of the Nation, we pledge anew to the veteran soldiers of the Republic a watchful care and recognition of their just claims upon a grateful people.

HARRISON'S ADMINISTRATION.

We commend the able, patriotic and thoroughly American administration of President Harrison. Under it the country has enjoyed remarkable prosperity, and the dignity and honor of the Nation at home and abroad have been faithfully maintained, and we offer the record of pledges kept as a guarantee of faithful performance in the future.

WHAT A GIRL SHOULD LEARN.

A girl should learn
To sew,
To cook,
To mend,
To be gentle,
To value time,
To dress neatly,
To keep a secret,
To be self reliant,
To avoid idleness,
To be a good baby,
To darn stockings,
To respect old age,
To make good bread,
To keep a house tidy,
To control her temper,
To be a good mother,
To make a home happy,
To take care of the sick,
To humor a cross old man,
To marry a man for his worth,
To be a helpmate to a husband,
To be a good citizen,
To see a mouse without screaming,
To read some good books besides novels,
To be light hearted and fleet footed,
To wear shoes that won't cramp the feet,
To be a womanly woman under all circumstances.—Selected.

ELECTRIC CARRIAGE.

There will soon be exhibited in Boston an electric carriage of novel design. This illustration in the Inventive Age indicates the appearance of the vehicle. The motor is mounted on the front axle, and works at a thousand revolutions a minute. Upon a level grade it is said that a speed of from ten to fifteen miles an hour can be accomplished. The steering apparatus and brake are readily operated by the person in charge of the vehicle. The inventor of the storage cells used in supplying the current claims that, while weighing nearly two thirds less than the ordinary accumulators, they are equal in capacity of other cells similar in size, and may be operated economically.

WHEN AND WHAT TO READ.

If you are impatient, sit down quietly and have a talk with Job.
If you are just a little strong-headed, go to see Moses.
If you are getting weak-kneed, take a look at Elijah.
If there is a song in your heart, listen to David.
If you are a policy-man, read Daniel.
If you are getting sordid spend a while with Esau.
If you feel chilly, get the beloved disciple to put his arms around you.
If your faith is below par, read Paul.
If you are getting lazy, watch James.
If you are losing sight of the future, climb up to Revelation and get a glimpse of the promised land.—Exchange.

PARTISANSHIP VS. PATRIOTISM.

This principle which puts partisanship in the room of patriotism, and fear in that of conviction, only regards the death of the party that is mortally wounded already, but debases character more than anything else. The fear of public opinion in a free country, where character and motives are discussed without reserve, is strong enough to make cowards of most men; but when it becomes a moral principle that a man, if a representative, owes it to his party to vote with it through thick and thin, and is bound, if a private citizen, to support the regular candidate, there is turning of moral rules upside down which may corrupt the character of a whole country.—Political Science, by Woolsey, vol. II, p. 557.

CONDENSED TRUTHS.

Our department often depends upon our dress.
Clothes have a wonderful deal to do with courting.
A waistcoat of broadcloth or of fusian is alike to an aching heart.
As our sins increase, so do our desires, and we ever stand midway between the two.
Memory is a rare ghost-raiser. Like a haunted house, its walls are ever echoing to unseen feet.
It is well we cannot see into the future; there are few boys of fourteen who would not feel ashamed of themselves at forty.—Selected.

CAPITAL AND LABOR'S PRESENT ATTITUDE.

First Factory Hand—We will never be able to better ourselves until we organize and have a fund to fall back on when our demands are refused.
Second Factory Hand—That's so. We must save all we can.
Factory Superintendent (some months later)—I learn that some of our factory hands are saving a little money every week.
Owner—My stars! We must reduce wages, or they'll soon have enough ahead to go on a strike.—Puck.

IF YOU WOULD LIKE

To communicate with about ten thousand of the best country people in this section of North Carolina then do it through the columns of THE CAUCASIAN. No other paper in the Third Congressional District has as large a circulation.

POLK MONUMENT FUND.

LET THE ALLIANCEMEN OF NORTH CAROLINA ERECT A MONUMENT TO THE MEMORY OF COL. L. L. POLK.

LET EVERY LODGE CONTRIBUTE!

The life of Col. Polk has in a great measure been one of devotion to the people. His honest labors have been in their behalf. The crowning work of his life was consecrated to the Alliance—to this great reform movement. His tremendous labors for the past three years has no doubt hastened his death. Now let us erect a shaft to his memory. North Carolina has been shamefully neglectful of her distinguished sons in this respect. In fact we know of but one memorial shaft in the State, and that is to the memory of Governor Caswell. It is in the town of Kinston. Now let the Alliance set the remainder of the State an example. Let every sub and county lodge contribute what it can—let every individual reformer who can, contribute something; and there will be a monument erected to Col. L. L. Polk. THE CAUCASIAN will receive contributions, publish the name of the lodge or individual contributing, and the amount and receipt for the same. The list of those contributing will be kept standing in this paper. We will head the list with our own contribution.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

The following platform was unanimously and enthusiastically adopted.

The platform reads as follows:
Resolved, 1. That the Democracy of North Carolina reaffirm the principles of the Democratic party, both State and National, and particularly favor the free coinage of silver and an increase of the currency, and the repeal of the interest-reducing system. And we denounce the McKinley tariff bill as unjust to the consumers of the country, and leading to the formation of trusts, combines and monopolies, which oppress the people; and especially do we denounce the unnecessary and burdensome increase in the tax on cotton ties and on tin, so largely used by the poorer portion of the people. We likewise denounce the iniquitous Force bill, which is not only abandoned by the Republican party, but is being urged as a measure to be adopted as soon as they regain control of the House of Representatives, the purpose and effect of which measure will be to establish a second period of reconstruction in the Southern States, to subvert the liberties of our people and to inflame a new race antagonism and sectional animosities.

2. That we demand financial reform, and the enactment of laws that will remove the burdens of the people from the existing monetary, cultural depression, and do full ample justice to the farmers and laborers of our country.

3. That we demand the abolition of national banks, and the substitution of legal tender Treasury notes in lieu of national bank notes, issued in sufficient volume to do the business of the country on a cash system, regulating the amount needed on a per capita basis as the business interest of the country, and that all money issued by the government shall be legal tender in payment of all debts, both public and private.

4. That we demand that Congress shall pass such laws as shall actually prevent the dealing in futures of all agricultural and mechanical productions; providing such stringent system of procedure in trials as shall secure the necessary expenses of the government economically and honestly administered.

5. That we demand the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

6. That we demand the passage of laws prohibiting the alien ownership of land, and that Congress take early steps to devise some plan to obtain all lands now owned by alien and foreign syndicates; and that all lands now held by railroads and other corporations, in excess of what is actually used and needed by them, be reclaimed by the government and held for actual settlers only.

7. Believing in the doctrine of "equal rights to all and special privileges to none," we demand that taxation, National or State, shall not be used to build up one interest or class at the expense of another. We believe that the money of the country should be kept as such as possible in the hands of the people, and hence we demand that all revenue, National, State or county, shall be limited to the necessary expenses of the government economically and honestly administered.

8. That Congress issue a sufficient amount of fractional paper currency to facilitate the exchange through the medium of the United States mail.

9. That the General Assembly pass such laws as will make the public school system more effective than the advantages of education may be extended to all the people of the State alike.

Resolved, That we favor a graduated tax on incomes.

A $10,000 picture of John Sherman hangs in the Bank of England. If Benedict Arnold had done as much harm to the United States as John Sherman has, his picture would adorn the house of parliament, and a statue of him would stand in Westminster Abbey.—Chicago Express.

PRRSIDENT POLK DEAD.

In another column is given an account of Col. L. L. Polk's sickness, death and funeral. One of the most prominent characters in America is no more. But few men if any have ever had a larger personal following, besides he was the official head of the largest farmer and labor organization the world has ever seen; but few men have been more criticised, misrepresented, misunderstood, and abused. But such is, in a greater or less degree, the lot of every reformer. Of course, those who have been instrumental in perpetrating the wrongs that exist, those who are the recipients and expectant recipients of the spoils from such wrongs, together with those who prefer to suffer the results of an attempt to establish equal justice, are, as a rule, against all reforms that must be fought for. The former are opposed to any reform, the latter are for only such reform as are readily granted by the powers that be. Therefore, the road of every reformer is hard, and nothing but heroic patriotism and devotion to duty can sustain such a man. But now that Col. Polk is dead, those that fought him most bitterly while living, must all admit that no purer public man ever lived. While we ourselves think that his judgment was often at fault, yet no one who knew him could ever question his honesty of purpose. He was a man with a big heart, inspired with noble impulses. He was genial, warm-hearted and brilliant, in short a man of wonderful personal magnetism. He had no superior as an organizer, and if he had possessed the same administrative ability to direct and execute, he would have been one of the greatest leaders of men this country has ever seen.

How often do we see men enter public life poor, but suddenly become rich—how, the public seldom knows. Col. Polk dies poor, and there probably has never lived a man who could have prostituted his position for greater financial gain. He was not only a man who could not be bought at any price, but he was a man who spurned with the supremest contempt and indignation any suggestion of a deal or a trade, however slight or seemingly plausible. Had he possessed that ability marked by great foresight and cool judgment, had he been as wise as he was pure and brilliant, he would have been the Washington of this industrial revolution, he would have stood in history without a peer. His sudden death does not lessen our belief that the hand of Providence is directing this great movement and the cause of reform.

DUTY OF SOUTHERN DELEGATES.
The Democratic Convention will be in session next week at Chicago. We very much fear from the present outlook that Cleveland will be the nominee. The fine Italian band of Wall Street has gotten in its work. If such a meeting as the Syracuse Convention of kickers had been held for any one besides Wall Street's candidate, the united and associated press dispatches and the metropolitan dailies would have branded the men in the convention and their candidate as bolters, disorganizers and enemies to good government. They would have been denounced as traitors. Then all the little papers and the machine politicians would have echoed the same sentiment. Wall Street has been so successful in its man, that many have been made to believe that there was a considerable popular movement among the masses for Cleveland. But what sentiment there is for him is largely manufactured. Now Cleveland has certain qualities that Americans will always admire. But his views on matters of public policy and national legislation show that he has a narrow horizon, and that he is influenced largely by his immediate environments. He does not go far enough on the tariff, and at one time seemed to be afraid of the issue, while his financial views are in direct conflict with the interests of the great agricultural and wealth producing sections of the country. We trust that the delegates from the South and the West will control or at least be able to impress upon the convention, the imprudence and folly of nominating Cleveland, when there are other men who would stand some reasonable chance of being elected. The Chicago convention, whoever may be its preference, will not knowingly invite defeat. The danger is that they will not fully realize the situation. And here lies the great duty of the Southern delegates, and especially those from North Carolina. Gentlemen, be honest with the convention, and tell them the situation as it is.

We had hoped that Blaine would be nominated at Minneapolis. In the first place, we think he could have been beaten, in the next place if he should have been elected, he would have been less objectionable than any Republican we know. He is opposed to the force bill, and his reciprocity idea is a step toward free trade. In fact Blaine is a better Democrat than a number of prominent men in this State who are labelled Democrats. Then personally Blaine is a man with many admirable traits. He is a big hearted man with many generous and noble impulses. On the other hand Harrison is a narrow, prejudiced, cold and designing fellow. He is the most dangerous type of a man. He would rob you and then pray for you. But the logical candidates of the Republican party would have been McKinley and Tom Reed, of Maine. They represent the only two distinguishing ideas of the Republican party—one, legalized robbery, the other, brute force. Yes, it should have been McKinley and Reed.

Death of Rev. W. M. Kennedy.

Died, at the home of his son, Dr. W. P. Kennedy, in Warsaw, one of Duplin's oldest, and most valuable and highly esteemed citizens.

In the death of Rev. Mr. Kennedy passes away one of the most prominent divines of the Baptist church in this section of the State, and a man of great force of character. He was a devoted and successful minister of the Gospel, and his life work, which has been one of highest devotion to the noblest duties of his life. Though he was not a man who had had the advantages of early education, he was one of natural ability. He has done much for education in this section, and gave each one of his four children the very best advantages he was able. He was always a friend to the poor boys and girls getting an education, and a friend to every one in need, and his death will be a great loss in his community. He leaves a wife and three children to mourn their loss, and a high example of a Christian's life, which every one who knew him could not but testify to his worth.

Bladen County Items.

(Special Correspondent.)
Mr. Editor—Thinking that perhaps you might like to hear from this part of the "moral vineyard," I send herewith a few items.

Crops are fine. One young man in this section has a piece of corn that he has to hire it worked. It grows so fast that he can't keep up with it himself.

Politics are at a low ebb in this section, but that "half-digging" young man says he would like to form an alliance with a party or two that he knows of. If any of your young lady correspondents wish to know of the whereabouts you can tell them that he is out surveying his land in Colley Swamp, otherwise known as the land of Pikes. I am afraid he will hurt his back again. BETA

Clark Fork Items.
(Special Correspondent.)
Crops are looking somewhat dull here, but the rain and warm weather are bringing them out.

Mr. William Boyette Dead.

Mr. William Boyette, an 63, prominent and highly valued citizen of Duplin, died at his home near Warsaw, Monday night, 12th inst. He has been in poor health for the past two or three years, and had suffered intensely for the past several months. He was 73 years old at time of his death, and has been widely known and unanimously loved by every one who knew him. He was a man of noble character, and one who was a friend in need to those who were fortunate enough to deserve his friendship. He was a member of the Warsaw Baptist church for over a half a century, and always lived high up to his profession. He was a member of the Clinton Lodge of Masons, and buried with the Masonic honors.

Among those who attended the funeral from Clinton were Miss Kate Peterson, and Messrs. Isham Royal, W. A. Johnson, M. A. Smith, E. W. Kerr, J. M. Spell, H. B. Giddens, B. F. Powell, Daniel Giddens, J. M. Powell, J. B. Royal, James Lewis, T. L. Pugh, J. B. Bordenbarn, J. H. Herring, A. V. Royal, Rodden McKee, B. S. Pater, Son, Jas. Hunter, Alex. Ferrell, W. E. Bass, Chas. Crumpler, Everett Peterson, and several others.

Rev. O. P. Weeks preached a very impressive sermon from 100 Psalm, 12 verse.

Miss Emma Early, of Atlanta, N. C., is visiting friends in town.

Miss Lily Belle Newberry has been away several weeks visiting in Raleigh and Goldsboro.

Miss Annie Fryar is visiting in Warsaw.

Children's Day Exercises were held at the Baptist Church here Sunday. A very pleasant occasion, and a nice little sum realized for B. S. mission work.

The exercises were supplemented by an address on S. W. A. M. L. A. Bessley, which did credit and honor to himself, the work and our community.

We are having splendid little prayer-meetings on Sunday nights. They do much good. More of our people ought to grow as public speakers, and best of all, they would become more enthusiastic about the Kingdom of God.

They would become more consecrated to their religion.

On a recent Sunday night we were few in number and without an organist, but we had one man who was in a mood to lead, and the spirit of the Lord was present in the prayers, the songs and the reading of His word, so we didn't go away without feeling how much those had lost who were not there. Of the good influence even one true consecrated Christian can wield over the people of his community. O that we had more of them!

DUPLIN COUNTY PUBLIC AFFAIRS.

KENANSVILLE, N. C., June 6th, '32.
Mr. Editor—The Board of Commissioners of Duplin County, organized by meeting on Tuesday, June 6th, at 10 o'clock, and proceeded to transact business.

The county showing the county out of debt, new jail about completed and all expense to date settled. He asked the Board to order the property of the building fire proof Register and Clerk's offices at a possible cost of $1,200, and stated with the full constitutional limit of assessment for county purposes on the 1st day of July, 1932, to be paid in full.

The Board levied the full amount (25¢) on the assessed value of the county for county purposes, leaving 15 cents for schools, 25 cents for State and 5 cents for other county purposes.

They levied under schedule B and C, $3.65 as amount as the State levy. The following gentlemen were elected County Commissioners to succeed themselves: F. M. Keatly, Samuel B. Newton and Wm. H. Winders.

Prof. R. W. Millard was re-elected County Superintendent of Public Instruction, to succeed himself, unanimously by acclamation.

J. B. Oliver, S. O. Middleton and W. B. Newberry appointed a committee to investigate the cost, etc., of building fire proof Register and Clerk's offices and confer with the Board of Commissioners at some near future meeting.

A resolution was introduced before the Board, requesting that the meeting of the Board's respective township priorities to instruct their delegates to the County Convention to instruct their representatives to the next General Assembly to pass an Act allowing tax collector in each township, which was almost unanimously carried.

It was moved and carried that the Treasurer's office be abolished, and that the sheriff perform the duties required of a Treasurer.

Our people are very reluctant to complain at high taxes when their public interest is at stake, hence we can boast of a first-class No. 1 jail, none better in the State, and we are to soon realize the needed improvements in better arrangements for our public records, &c.

Believing enough of your space will be consumed with the above statements I will close.

THAD. JONES, JR.,
Clerk of the Joint Boards.

WARSAW NOTES.

We hear Mr. B. J. Williams name mentioned for sheriff of Duplin. We know of no one who would make a more worthy and efficient officer, and have no trouble to give the bond.

FOR THE CAUCASIAN.

"CONSOLATION."

Drop! Drop! Drop!!!
Ond!
But the cold, cold fingers would not feel, Rests to-day, and is present with God!
The well for the farmer boy
As he sings with the children at play;
The soil for the laboring man.
As he gathers the new mown hay.
And the songs of the birds go on
In the vale beyond the hill,
But oh! for a shroud that heart so cold,
In that bosom so silent and still!
Then drop! drop! drop!!!
Ond!
Over the bosom of Death, O, drop!
But the cold, cold fingers would not feel, Rests to-day in the bosom of God.

Death of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Autry.

(Special Correspondent.)
SPARKS, GA., May 25th, 1932.

Mr. Editor—As you have not been able to get the particulars of the death of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Autry I will try to give them best I can, as a good many of your readers are related and acquainted with both of them.

On Sunday, May 25th, Mr. and Mrs. Autry and their five boys (they have no girls) started to church, the two older boys were riding horse-back a head of Mr. and Mrs. A. and the other three boys in a buggy. About one mile from home the horse came frightened at a sleep and dashed from the road in the ditch.

Only 50 yards from the road Mr. A. was thrown from the buggy and a pine tree, crushing his body and breaking his neck, and only a few feet further Mrs. A. was thrown against another tree, breaking her neck and dying instantly. Mr. A. spoke after the older boys got there, and lived only ten or fifteen minutes. The two youngest boys escaped unhurt. George, the third boy, was badly hurt, but not fatal, as reported.

The horse was a large powerful one. Mr. Autry had just bought him, thought to be very gentle. The horse got clear of the buggy in a few yards of where the dead body lay, and was caught a mile from there. The buggy was a new one, but was literally torn in pieces.

We were sent for at once. When we reached the bodies had been brought back to the house and dressed. Both of them were badly scared. We attended their burial the next day. Both corpses lay in the same grave at Hopefield church, where they had started the day before.

Mr. Autry was a neighbor of ours, a turpentine operator and a perfect gentleman. Mr. Autry was loved by everybody who knew him.

I was called there as one of the appraisers of the estate of Mr. A., which I valued at $34,000. This amount was in real estate and personal property, with $30,000 insurance, making the estate worth about $60,000. Mr. W. J. Rogers, a turpentine man, administered on the estate.

The two oldest boys, Walter and Lattie, will run the business on. The three younger boys have been carried to their grand mother's, near Fayetteville, N. C.

RECT COPY.

Some persons and newspapers have been charging that the St. Louis demands of the Alliance contained a "soldier's plank," and other things that would be objectionable to many people. They have tried to prejudice people against the Alliance by such misrepresentations. The following is a correct and official copy of the St. Louis demands:

PLATFORM.

FINANCE.

First—We demand a national Currency, safe, sound and flexible, issued by the general government only, a full legal tender for all debts, public and private, and that without the use of banking corporations a just, equitable and efficient means of distribution direct to the people at a tax not to exceed 2 per cent, be provided, as set forth in the sub-treasury plan of the Farmers' Alliance, or some better system; also, be payments in discharge of its obligations for public improvements.

a. We demand free and unlimited coinage of silver.

b. We demand that the amount of circulating medium be speedily increased to not less than $50 per capita.

c. We demand a gradual income tax.

d. We believe that the money of the country should be kept as much as possible in the hands of the people, and hence we demand that all National and State revenue shall be limited to the necessary expenses of the Government economically and honestly administered.

e. We demand that postal savings banks be established by the Government for the safe deposit of the earnings of the people and to facilitate exchange.

LAND.

Second—The land, including all the natural resources of wealth, is the heritage of the people and should not be monopolized for speculative purposes, and alien ownership of land should be prohibited. All land now held by railroads and other corporations in excess of their actual needs, and all lands now covered by all-ens, should be reclaimed by the Government and held for actual settlers only.

TRANSPORTATION.

Third—Transportation being a means of exchange and a public necessity, the Government should own and operate the railroads in the interest of the people.

The telegraph and telephone, like the post office system, being a necessity for transmission of news, should be owned and operated by the Government in the interest of the people.

The above is certified to by the whole North Carolina delegates to the St. Louis Convention.

The delegates were as follows: Marion Butler, J. F. Brinson, Rev. J. C. Hoover, W. C. Wilcox, E. C. Heddingfield, P. H. Massey, J. F. Johnson, A. C. Shuford, H. M. Kent, Rev. J. C. Brown.

There are people who wish to oppose the Alliance and not being able to do so fairly or meet its speakers in argument, stoop to misrepresentation and abuse.

TAYLOR'S BRIDGE.

Several cases of sickness in our section. The complaint is dysentery. None fatal as heard of, although the disease seems to be heard to check.

On the 21st of May a fire broke out in the neighborhood of Messrs. Josiah Johnson, R. M. Register, W. S. Johnson, T. D. Robinson, Mrs. Margaret Johnson, J. P. Robinson, John Balkema and others who were the principal sufferers. The fire burnt over about 800 acres of land, destroying some of the most valuable turpentine forests in that section of the county. If it had not been for the rain, which came in time, the damage would have been more serious. The rain and the strenuous efforts of the neighbors prevented the ravages of the flames from destroying entire farms. The origin of fire was caused by a negro by the name of Willis Smith, who was burning a log-heap, and was careless and neglected the heap after setting it on fire. The negro had been cautioned by several of the thoughtful ones, not to burn the logs until a more opportune and less dangerous time was presented, but headstrong and thoughtless he knew it all, and caused a heavy loss. Thousand of turpentine boxes ready to be dipped, besides hundreds of barrels were burned. Is there any relief for the sufferers by this piece of gross negligence?

I see in last week's paper where Plug and Swinburn, of Little Coharie, had replied to Mr. Columbus Commetovet, and while replying to him it seems as if they were slurring at me. I will say to them now, while I do not appreciate him (the Dismal correspondent) for circulating such a report on me, I certainly do not appreciate them or even thank them in the least for slurring at me in any such manner, after the mistake had been corrected.

BIZZELL AUSTY.

Whatsoever it is that presses thee, go tell thy Father, put over the matter until His hand and so thou shalt be freed from that dividing, perplexing care that the world is full of. When thou art either to do or suffer anything; when thou are about any purpose in business go tell God of it and acquaint Him with it, and thou hast done your matter of caring; no more care, but sweet diligence in their duty, and dependence on Him for the carriage of thy matters. Roll thy cares and thyself with them as a burden, all on thy God as R. Leighton.

ALLIANCE NOTES, DISCUSSIONS AND THE DOINGS OF THE VARIOUS LODGES.

[The CAUCASIAN was adopted as the Official Organ of the Farmers' Alliance at the meeting in January 1890, 1889.]

THE CAUSE OF HARD TIMES.

A great many good people cannot understand why times grow harder each year notwithstanding production continually increase, and strictest economy is practiced. If they carefully examine the following statement they will easily see the cause. From the most authentic sources we find that the four leading crops of 1891, were as follows:

Wheat 61,783,000 bu. $314,422,714
Cotton 5,600,000,000 lbs. 230,000,000
Corn 2,060,151,000 bu. 339,430,227
Oats 730,034,000 bu. 222,212,268

Total $1,823,224,309.

It must be remembered that these prices are for products delivered in New York, or to New England manufacturers. It is safe to say that it costs the producer 15 per cent. of the value, or $274,833,631 to sack or bale, pay the freight, storage and insurance on these products from point of production to place of manufacture or New York. It is customary to deduct six months interest on the money invested from the price of the product at time of purchase, which in this case amounts to $64,127,848. These items deducted from the gross amount leaves $1,463,236,730 as the amount realized by the producer for the four leading staple crops of this country. It must be remembered that at least one-half of the wheat, corn and oats is consumed at home, consequently only $1,126,112,104 including cotton is marketed. These items deducted from the gross amount leave $912,150,805 cash actually paid to the producer. It is estimated there are 10,000,000 people engaged in producing these crops, consequently they receive $91 per capita for an entire year's labor, out of which they must support themselves, pay the interest on what they owe, and the various taxes imposed. The estimated indebtedness of the people of the United States is placed at $22,000,000,000 and the average interests at 6 1/2 per cent. We find the people pay or attempt to pay $1,300,000,000 interest annually, or $173,887,896 more than they realize from their four leading crops. In view of such fact the reason for "these hard times is easily perceived." These conditions have evolved the Alliance sub-treasury plan, and the low prices of raw products are driving millions to its support, because they know that it will reduce interest to 2 per cent. per annum. This one feature of the sub-treasury plan will cause an annual saving of $900,000,000 to the producer, a quadrupling of the volume of money. With the increase of the circulating medium will come the increase of the wages of our laborers on the farm, in the shop, mine and factory. This is a very important matter, since nineteen twentieths of our people have nothing to sell but their wages. More money, less interest, and less taxes is the battle cry of organized labor, and it is noticeable that no one opposes these demands except Shylocks or their tools. Reader, watch and see if our diagnosis of the case is not correct.—Southern Mercury.

Some people talk about taking seventy cents' worth of bullion, and making it into a dollar. Were free coinage in vogue when we have opened our minds there will be no seventy-cent bullion in the country.—Oberlin (Kan.) World.

The members of the Alliance should be unflinching in their campaign of education. Education is more essential than any one thing, and the people should be forgetful of that fact. They should constantly strive to familiarize themselves with the burning questions of the day, especially those relating to the political welfare of this country. When the people become thoroughly educated upon and acquainted with political matters of the country's prosperity is then assured. The watchword for all is: Educate!—Ex.

A Little Girl's Experience in a Light House.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Treseott are keepers of the Light House at Sand Beach, Michigan, and are blessed with a daughter, four years old. Last April she was taken down with Measles, followed with a dreadful cough and turning into a Fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit could not cure her, but in vain, she grew worse rapidly, until she was a mere "handful of bones." Then she tried Dr. King's New Discovery and after the use of two and a half bottles, was completely cured. They say Dr. King's New Discovery is worth its weight in gold, yet you may get a trial bottle free at the Druggists of Dr. R. H. Holliday, Clinton; and JOHN R. SMITH, Druggist, Mount Olive, N. C.

Our Farmers' Column.

SOMETHING INTERESTING TO THOSE WHO TILL THE SOIL.

"There is no material progress that is well based and permanent without agricultural progress."

GOOD ROADS AS A GOSPEL.

There is no subject of local interest which more vitally concerns the people of Illinois than that of good roads. It would be difficult to estimate the value of improved public highways to the farmers of the State. It would be so great that their actual cost would be in significant by comparison.

The present condition of the country roads is amazing when we consider the progress of civilization in other directions. It is only in the matter of highways that the people of Illinois have made no advance from the pioneer period. If improvements in other respects had depended on better thoroughfares we would be still struggling helplessly amid semi-barbaric environments. As it is, the time has arrived when the roads must be improved.

The man who will suggest a method which is practical and is likely to be successful can make it succeed by a determined and earnest advocacy of it. In order to accomplish his purpose it may be necessary for him to canvass the State and make public addresses on the subject. It may even be necessary for him to carry it into politics, and if he is ambitious for office it is in this direction he will find his reward. What better platform could a candidate for governor desire than one which demanded better country roads?

Enough has been written and spoken on the point that good roads are desirable. What is now needed is for some one to propose a feasible plan for obtaining them. Statesmen should consider this subject.—Chicago Herald.

FARM HINTS.

If you plant a field of sweet corn, in order to experiment a little with green soiling, this fall, don't have it a half mile away from the stable.

Give the boy all the hard jobs and the chores that you don't want to do yourself, if you want him to leave the farm. It is a pretty sure way to accomplish this.

Farmers seem to neglect the growing of pumpkins more than they used to. A crop can be easily and cheaply grown among the corn, and can be made useful in a number of ways.

Potatoes furnish a cash crop, and rarely sell below a price that affords a fair profit, and if you give extra cultivation and raise an extra crop, you are rewarded accordingly.

Sorghum syrup and Louisiana molasses are being used for fattening cattle in the South. It is mixed with cotton seed meal and hulls, and is said to make a superior ration.—American Farmer.

LAME IN ANKLE.

Jas. O. M., Statesville, N. C.—What is best for a horse lame in the kind ankle, which is somewhat swollen? It was caused by a wrench or slip last fall. He seems to favor it more in going down hill and in stopping. Some advise blistering it necessary. Is it best not to use him?

Clip off the hair and apply a cantharides blister after two days; grease once a day with soft grease for a week, then if necessary repeat the blister.

SUCKING WIND.

R. O., East Windsor, Ct.—Will you please tell me through your paper what is the cause of a horse sucking wind, and what will stop it. This horse of mine is not what is called a "criber," he does not touch anything with his teeth. He curves his neck, opens his mouth, makes a downward pass with his head and seems to suck wind in this way. Sometimes he makes a noise very much like a "criber." He is hard to keep in order.

It is not an uncommon habit of horses. Take a teaspoonful of charcoal and a teaspoonful of soda and give it in his feed night and morning for a day or two, and occasionally try the neck strap.

A willow stake set right end up in the ground in the Spring, and with a few buds at its top, is almost certain to grow. In two or three years more its trunk will be large enough to nail a board on, and it can thus be used as a fence post. Some who do this let the tree grow as large as it will, but it will bear shortening by cutting off its top, and become an indestructible fence post, taking little more room than one that has no roots.—American Farmer.

May not some varieties of potatoes stand cutting of the seed better than others?

The food materials must be in the soil and in the air, or the plant will not flourish.

Crops are made through vegetable chemistry; the farmer must furnish the materials.

It is not necessary that a farmer should make a drudge of himself and forego all enjoyment.

Soil that will not grow a good surface feeder crop may grow a good deep-feeding one.

Brine-slaked lime is more effective as a fertilizer than water-slaked. Sow lime and salt together.

Some of the best farmers and gardeners successfully compost manure in large piles in the open fields.

In the spring, knock the animal droppings in the pasture to pieces with a mallet with a long handle.

Once the fool of the family was made the farmer. Now it takes the best brain.

A rotation of crops best enables the farmer to keep up the fertility of the soil.

If advice will save him, the farmer is safe. He never before had so many advisers.

If all farms could be run by fixed rules and just alike, what would be the use of brains?

The surplus food eaten and wasted in this country would feed the starving Russians.

Do the best you can. Evil communications will corrupt the good manners of your children.

In time, less stress will be placed on barnyard manure, save as the source of home supply.

What matters the source of a fertilizer, if it contains the right ingredients in available form?

Faith in commercial fertilizers increases as farmers begin to learn how to properly use them.
